

NEW!

D.I.Y Homes and Buildings.

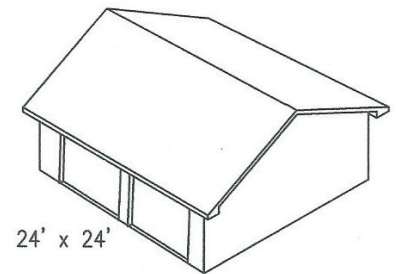

REPCo has just announced a new program that has been designed specifically for those that want to save money by building their new homes or buildings themselves.

All designs will be optimized for simplicity to allow lower costs, ease of assembly and specific detailing for the Do It Yourselfers. All structural walls, roofs and floors are drawn with instructions that are easily followed to make your project go smoothly.

With each order you receive:

1. Architectural and structural plans with state seals as required
2. Construction manual for your building
3. Reservation for two at one of our training workshops
4. Construction guidance by one of our inside technicians

Whether you want a workshop, storage or multi purpose building, we will design your building to the dimensions and appearance you are looking for.

D.I.Y. Home kits can be supplied based on your experience and desire. In any case it will be designed to fit your requirements and all features of this program will apply. See our plans in the residential section of our website for ideas.

Optional steel siding and roofing are available in a variety of colors and panel configurations from REPCo for most designs covered in this program.
